Located at 117-119 Hudson Street in Tribeca, a trendy area complete with art and fashion. The Issey Miyake retail store and office space demonstrate the skill of one of America's most renowned architects, Frank Gehry. Gehry's design incorporates the building's original support beams, which have been restored and can be seen below the floating-glass floor. The building itself is a landmark building and was originally built as a textile factory at the end of the nineteenth century.
